

David Labkovski Project's Teacher Training Program

Project-Based Learning for 8th Grade—Adult

Our multidisciplinary and project-based Holocaust educational programs merge art, history and technology to provide opportunities for our students and visitors to bear witnesses to history.

We focus on using David Labkovski's art to teach tolerance, inclusion, and equality. Our goal is to go beyond teaching about the history of the Holocaust; we want people to think critically about the past and find ways to use their creativity to build a better future.

DLP has impacted thousands of students since our programs started. We've worked with more than 200 teachers in more than 23 schools, in multiple states and across 7 countries.

- Reflect & Respond Program
- Student Docent & Leadership Program
- Teacher Training Program
- Student Programs (classroom, virtual, and after-school)
- Diversity, Equality and Inclusion Programs

Program Overview

Offered through the generous support of the Leve Family Foundation, The David Labkovski Project is able to offer a select group of teachers free professional development to teach DLP's Docent and Leadership Program curriculum, and bring this unique Holocaust education program to their schools.

Scan the code or apply at:

www.davidlabkovskiproject.org/dlp-programs/teacher-training

Sponsored by Alan & Annette
Leve Family Foundation