Program Overview & Benefits

Students who are accepted to this program are required to complete seven (7) one-hour online training sessions. Docents have the opportunity to lead DLP tours and work with fellow docents to curate an exhibit.

Participants will:

- Develop leadership skills through educating visitors about art, history, and DLP exhibits.
- Have the opportunity to curate a virtual exhibit with peers.
- Empower yourself and others to create a bright future through understanding the past.
- Earn community service hours.

Sophia's Story

"Through the process of learning to be a docent I learned more about the history of the Holocaust in context to the rest of the world. As a curator I got the opportunity to work with amazing and driven students from around the country as we learned the behind-the-scenes of an art exhibit and how to use art as a tool for education."
